

Sprint 1 - Retrospective

The tasks for this sprint was not estimated correctly. For the next week we need a larger resolution for the time estimation, to make more it accurate. If someone is unable to complete his/her task and someone else can, then that person should take over. As well communicate what we need to finish. If someone is blocked by someone else then that need to be communicated between those people.

We only estimated task that we thought that we had the time to complete, which was a mistake because some of us had time over with no tasks to start working on. For the next sprint it would be useful to have an time estimated backlog of tasks, that we don't think we have time to complete.

A good thing this sprint was that we hadn't overestimated the time needed for the task and had a marginal, which let us complete the tasks tough two of us were sick. Another good thing is that the team works well together and we can be open to each other regarding the project.
